

Buddha (बुद्ध) — Dharma (धर्म) — Saṅgha (सङ्घ)

My person thrice bows down in humble reverence to the Awakened One, to Dharma, the sustaining order of right action,¹ and to the Saṅgha, the radiant assembly of that body.²

1. The virtuous nourished one established in right action, the middle way.

2. The ball of lightning of that body (the assembly): a coiled tendril of lightning, like the cord of twisted lamp-wick; a coil of lightning's streak, a compact winding of flame, a pure white (shining), well-formed whorl, rounded and perfectly shaped.

Śrī Maccidānanda Nātha (2026).